Letter in folder dated March 28, 1933, written in response to an inquiry.

Reference is made to your request for the Revolutionary War record of Peter Lambert and data relative to his family.

The data which follow were obtained from papers on file in the pension claims of Peter Lambert and his father, George Lambert.

Peter Lambert was born August 15, 1760 in Philadelphia.

While a resident of Cooperstown, Otsego County, New York, he enlisted in June 1776, served as private in Captain John Winn's New York company and was discharged sometime in January 1777, while a resident of Canajoharie, Montgomery County, New York, he enlisted in the quartermaster department about January 1, 1780, served as private in Captain John Denny's New York company under Colonel Udey Hay and was discharged January 21, 1781. He enlisted July 25, 1781, served as second sergeant in Captain Livingston's New York company, was in the battle at West Canada Creek and was discharged in January, 1782. He enlisted May 1, 1782, served as second sergeant in Captain Guy Young's company in Colonel Marinus Willett's New York regiment and was discharged December 31, 1782. In addition to this service he served on various short tours, amounting to at least four months in all, in the New York militia under Captains House, Copeman and Belding, and Colonel Clyde.

He was allowed pension on his application executed September 19, 1832, at which time he was still a resident of Canajoharie, New York.

He died October 25, 1844.

In 1856, Peter Lambert, Jr., of Canajoharie was referred to as the surviving son of the late Peter Lambert of Canajoharie, New York.

The papers in the pension claim of Peter Lambert, S.22868, contain no further data relative to this soldier's family.

The data which follow were obtained from papers on file in pension claim, R.6098, based upon the Revolutionary War services of George Lambert.

He was born March 18, 1764, in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, at the beginning of the Revolution he lived in Fort Plains (later called Minden), Montgomery County, New York, having moved there from Otsego, Tryon County, New York. After the Revolution he lived at Minden and Canajoharie.

While a resident of Canajoharie he applied for pension on September 19, 1832, and alleged that he enlisted in the fall of 1778 and served with the New York troops at various times until the close of the Revolution, amounting to one year, two months, and twenty-nine days, in all, as private and spy under Captains Belding, and Colonels Samuel Clyde, Harper, Brown, and Willett. He was called upon for further specifications in regard to his service, to which he did not reply. And his claim was never completed.

He stated that his father's property at Otsego, eight miles from Cherry Valley, was destroyed by the Indians and that his family took shelter in Fort Plank when the fort was besieged in 1780 by the Indians under Brant, his mother, sister, and two younger brothers (their names not given) were taken prisoners, his brothers returned home after the war but no mention was made of the fate of his mother and sister.

Peter Lambert whose history is given above was a brother of George Lambert.

The papers in this pension Claim contain no further data relative to the family of George Lambert.
